Catalog of Services and Products

This catalog was last updated: 10/2025

About Us

Since 1999, we have offered professional development in Project Based Learning (PBL) to teachers and leaders at the school and district levels. Over the past decade, we have served more than 30,000 educators annually in all 50 states and across the world, including Australia, Brazil, Canada, Costa Rica, Chile, China, the Dominican Republic, India, Ireland, Jordan, Malaysia, Mexico, Peru, Romania, the United Kingdom, Qatar, and Singapore.

Building on this foundation of service, we now also offer a product—PBLWorks TEACH™—a web-based application that provides ready-to-use, high-quality, standards-aligned PBL units and resources. Together, our professional services and TEACH platform provide a powerful combination: the guidance and training educators need, plus the tools and curriculum to bring Gold Standard PBL to life in classrooms everywhere.

Our core beliefs about high quality PBL are based on our collective experience of seeing what is possible for all students. When done well, PBL ...

- Transforms students by inspiring them to think differently about themselves as learners, collaborators, and leaders.
- Prepares students for success in college, career, and life.
- Leads students to master core academic content and builds success skills.
- Advances educational equity and empowers youth furthest from opportunity.
- Enables teachers to make a difference in their students' lives.

Our Professional Development

In order to help teachers do PBL well, all of our professional development is aligned to a comprehensive, research-informed model for PBL—a “gold standard” to help teachers, schools, and organizations to measure, calibrate, and improve their practice. As shown below, Gold Standard PBL puts student learning goals in the center and has two parts: the Seven Essential Project Design Elements and the Seven Project Based Teaching Practices.

What You Can Expect

PBL at the highest level, grounded in research.

Our workshops are based on our Gold Standard PBL model, which sets a high bar for project design and facilitation.

An emphasis on educational equity.

We're committed to advancing racial equity through high quality PBL, and our services are focused on four key equity levers. Recent research shows that PBL improves outcomes for all students, including Black and Brown students.

You'll be in great hands.

Our services are facilitated by our National Faculty and Directors of District and School Leadership, who are seasoned teachers, school leaders, district leaders, coaches, and experts.

- Ongoing Teacher Growth. Built-in professional learning and collaboration opportunities keep educators engaged, confident, and growing all year long.
- Consistency Across Every Classroom. Ensure every classroom delivers high quality PBL with ready-to-use units and aligned teaching supports—across schools, grades, and subjects.
- Assessment You Can Trust. Robust formative assessments track progress, ensure mastery of content standards, and give teachers actionable insights to adjust instruction in real time.

Our eight-minute demo highlights what is available in TEACH and how it supports great teaching and learning.

For more information on TEACH services, refer to pages 9, 10, 16, and 19.

I was really intimidated by the idea of making my own project. Having TEACH and the projects already made so I can just implement it is amazing... Implementation for me as a teacher is going to be easier.

For District Partners

For districts looking to use high quality Project Based Learning (PBL) as a primary instructional methodology for all students, we offer multi-year partnerships that build the capacity of district leaders, school leaders, and teachers for Gold Standard PBL through a comprehensive set of online and/or in-person workshops.

For District Partners

Districts—Coherence:

- Establish the vision, culture, and system-wide conditions to pave the way for Gold Standard PBL across schools.
- Clearly articulate and communicate how PBL instruction aligns with other district priorities, initiatives, and intended student outcomes.
- Develop a plan and district steering committee to drive the work toward established implementation goals and ensure sustainability.

Schools—Conditions:

- Develop a clear vision and purpose for PBL.
- Create the conditions and build teacher capacity to implement high-quality projects.
- Develop a schoolwide culture that supports PBL.

Teachers—Capacity:

- Adapt and use our ready-to-go PBLWorks TEACH curriculum units to facilitate a Gold Standard project in your classroom.
- Build an inclusive classroom culture that supports Project Based Learning.
- Assess student learning of key content, knowledge, and skills through projects.

Districts— Coherence:

District leaders must establish the ecosystem around schools that promotes a culture of high expectations for all learners. Through a series of online and in-person workshops, we work with district leadership teams to set and articulate an inspiring vision, establish the necessary culture to promote deep, authentic learning for all, and embed cycles of data-driven, continuous improvement into an outcome-driven implementation plan.

For us, PBL is about building a true community of learners—moving beyond standards on the board toward hands-on, authentic experiences that bring learning to life.

- Dr. Damon Christopher Lewis,
Principal of Ponus Ridge STEAM
Academy in Norwalk,
Connecticut

Project Based Learning is not just a method — it's a mindset shift that helps us strengthen the instructional core through culturally and linguistically responsive practices. We are proud that Lynn's educators are being seen as leaders in this national movement toward deeper learning and student agency.

- Molly Cohen, Deputy
Superintendent of Lynn Public Schools

The innovation and success of PBL at UPrep would not be possible without the leadership of PBLWorks. From our Home Office to school teams and teachers, we are grateful for the way you model intentional partnership and walk alongside schools every step of the way. That support made it possible to design our academic model—and to establish PBL as a pillar of it.

- Djeneba L. Cherif, Chief
Academic Officer, University
Prep Schools

PROJECT BASED LEARNING FOR ALL

Project Based Learning for All: A Leader's Guide is a comprehensive roadmap for school and district leaders seeking to transform educational ecosystems through Project Based Learning (PBL). Drawing on research, stories from the field, and tools from PBLWorks, this guide empowers leaders to cultivate school structures and mindsets that prioritize student agency, deeper learning outcomes, and systemic change. It is a practical, inspirational resource for those ready to lead with purpose and heart.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Bob Lenz is the CEO of PBLWorks, bringing with him a national reputation as a leader in high school redesign, Project Based Learning, 21st-century skills education, and performance assessment. He previously co-founded Envision Education, a Bay Area charter school network focused on expanding college access for underserved students, and is the author of Transforming Schools and This Teachable Moment.

Dr. Lisa Mireles is the Managing Director of Digital Curriculum at PBLWorks. With over 30 years of experience in education—as a teacher, principal, assistant superintendent, and more—she has championed learner-centered ecosystems that honor student identity, culture, and voice. Rooted in constructivism and Project Based Learning, Lisa's work spans diverse educational settings across the U.S. and internationally.
